The assembly was addressed by Messrs. Wm. B. Price, David L. Smoot, and

The Company then proceeded to the residences of Messrs. Avery and Smoot, where handsome entertainments were furnished

A bon-fire was, also, kindled on the hill near the intersection of Wilkes and Water street. The Gazette Office was crowded until a late hour by an assemblage anxious to know the result. They were supplied with extras containing a full account of the election-as rapidly as a fast press could print
